some of the finest works ever written for the "king of instruments." Through his weekly "light recitals" at Christ Church, Vancouver, over a period of many years, Mr. Chubb has developed a peculiarly sensitive understanding of public taste, and the compositions selected for this evening's recital will combine the great merits of musical beauty, popularity, and of being admirable media for showing the instrument to the best advantage.

FAVORITE TRANSCRIPTIONS
In addition to the legitimate organ compositions there will be a number of favorite transcriptions, including the famous overture to Wagner's "Tannhauser," deemed one of the finest overtures ever written. Included in the programme will also be Liszt's "Spaetisio," arranged for the organ by Lemare. Liszt was inspired to write this number after viewing the great Raphael painting depicting the betrothal of the Blessed Virgin.

The organ numbers will be interspersed by two vocal selections. The choir, under leadership of W. C. Fyfe, will render "Light's Glistening Morn," a composition by J. E. West. The aria "Jerusalem" (St. Paul), by Mendelssohn, will be sung by Mrs. H. W. Wilson. These numbers will be accompanied on the organ by Mr. Chubb.

THE PROGRAMME
The programme follows:
Festival prelude on "Ein Feste Burg" (William Faulkes).
"Spaetisio" (Frans Liszt).
Fugue on "Ad Nos, Ad Salutem Undam" (Frans Liszt).
Vocal solo "Jerusalem" (St. Paul), (Mendelssohn), Mrs. H. W. Wilson.
(a) Meditation (E. D'Evry); (b) Allegretto (William Wolstenholme); (c) Scherzo (H. Hofmann); (d) Reverie (E. H. Lemare); (e) Romance (H. Sandford Turner).
Symphony in G Minor, third movement (E. H. Lemare).
Anthem, "Light's Glistening Morn" (J. E. West), First United Church Choir, W. C. Fyfe, conductor.

W. C. FYFE, Choir Leader

Frederick Chubb, Mus. B.A., F.R.C.O., will give a recital tonight on the magnificent Casavant Freres three-manual instrument which has been installed at the First United Church here.

Mr. Chubb is one of the best-known organists in Western Canada, his weekly twilight recitals at Christ Church, Vancouver, having an immense following. His recital tonight will show the instrument to advantage, including some of the greatest organ compositions ever written.

Built by the famous Casavant Freres, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., and installed by Andrew Chapman, British Columbia representative of the firm, the new organ has a compass of sixty-one notes on the manuals and thirty-two notes in the pedals. It comprises great organ, swell organ, choir organ, pedal organ and couplers, representing a labyrinth of pipes, pistons and other inner workings which are a permanent mystery to the lay mind.

Actually there are 2300 pipes and twenty-six adjustable pistons.

WILL NOT MEET BOND INTEREST

Preferred Shareholders of Price Brothers Form Protective Committee

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—Coincident with a statement today from Price Brothers & Company, Quebec newspaper manufacturers, that they would not be able to meet bond interest on November 1, came the announcement that preferred shareholders had formed a protective committee.

Half-yearly interest on the bonds was defaulted on August 1, but there was a period of grace extending to November 1. In a letter from the company to bondholders, W. P. Cresch, the secretary, said:

"As you are probably aware, the conditions under which the newspaper is operating are extremely difficult and it is improbable that your company will be able, unaided, to meet this liability."

Under the terms of the trust deed, assets of the company are liable to forfeiture if bond interest is still unpaid at the expiration of the period of grace.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED
The protective committee of preferred shareholders was announced as follows: R. H. Collis, Kitchener; Aitken, London, England; Col. George P. Murphy, Ottawa; Col. I. Renford, H. J. Swinington, Montreal; A. C. Thomson, K.C., Quebec. A protective committee had already been formed for the bondholders.

Preferred and common shareholders are to be asked to assist in meeting the bond interest, the letter stated.

The company a few days ago reduced the price of newspaper to its United States customers from $53.00 to $47.50.

Horticulturist Addresses South Saanich Farmers
E. White, district horticulturist of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute, held in the Temperance Hall recently. Mr. White spoke on exhibits at the fair and gave a number of interesting points to be noted by farmers in preparing their entries. W. D. Mitchell, president, was the chairman.

Mr. White also presented prizes for the loganberry, strawberry and raspberry, which consisted of silver fruit baskets donated by the Institute. Refreshments were provided by the ladies of the organization, following the prize giving.

The awards made were: Loganberries—1, W. Buckford & Sons; 2, W. Holloway; 3, J. Malcolm. Raspberries—1, H. Sherring; 2, J. J. Young; 3, W. O. Mitchell & Sons.

NEW ORGAN IS FINE ADDITION

Installation at First United Church Fulfills Long-Cherished Ambition

A conspicuously fine addition to the pipe organs of the city has been made with the installation, at First United Church, of the beautiful new Casavant Freres' three-manual instrument, which will be heard for the first time tonight when Frederick Chubb, F.R.C.O., gives the inaugural recital.

The accompanying picture conveys some idea of the general appearance of the organ as seen from the auditorium of the church. For its accommodation the choir and pulpit platform of the church had to be torn out, although when the church was built a large organ loft was incorporated to provide for the installation of just such an instrument. The case, of rich solid walnut, is somewhat of a rarity nowadays, and was secured by happy chance from an old church.

The old two-manual Kimball organ which it displaces was sold to Duncan United Church and was formally dedicated last Sunday night. The dedication of the new organ at First United Church will take place next Sunday morning.

THE PERSONNEL
A brief sketch of some of those associated with the First United Church should be interesting to many.

Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., the pastor, backed by the church board and the major organizations of the church, has helped the congregation to realize its ambition to have a new organ, although a new and better instrument was part of the First United Church plan at the time of the construction of the edifice during Rev. Dr. J. G. Inkster's pastorate.

Alfred Gurney, who has been organist at the church since 1920, was trained by Dr. Hopkins in Rochester Cathedral, England, and was organist at the College of United Free Church, Glasgow, and later at Harrow Parish Church, near London. While there, he was one of the music masters at Harrow School for boys, and one of Dr. Percy Buck's assistants. He was one of the editors of the first anthem book of the Free Church of Scotland. In Harrow he played a three-manual organ built by the famous T. C. Lewis.

Rev. Bruce Gray, assistant pastor and young people's director since 1929, comes from Toronto, a city which is recognized as the centre of Protestant Church music in Canada.

CHOIRMASTER
William C. Fyfe, who has been choirmaster since 1927, was formerly choirmaster of St. Thomas United Church, Saskatoon, and recognized as one of the leading choral men there, having produced oratorios, operas, etc. He is himself a singer, and his interest in secular music has won for him a place in the concert field in this city, while a more colorful element has been introduced to the oratorio work at First United Church by the organization of the orchestra during his time as conductor. Mr. Fyfe hopes to give the oratorio, "St. Paul" (Mendelssohn), in the near future, which will be the first major work by the choir with the new organ.

Jack Smith, assistant organist, is a pupil of Mr. Gurney, and takes the organ when Mr. Gurney is absent, as well as occasionally for oratorios.

Jackson Hanby's name cannot be omitted. As choirmaster of First United Church from 1915 to 1927 (when he retired owing to ill-health) he was responsible for the choir in its present form, and for years was the recognized leader in oratorio work in the city. He was partly instrumental in starting the musical festival movement, here, through his keen interest in choir work. He is still keenly interested in First United Church choir.

THE CHOIR
The following is the present roll of the choir:

Sopranos: Mrs. L. A. Baker, Mrs. T. R. Bowden, Mrs. W. B. Crowther, Mrs. M. Discombe, Miss Ina Easton, Miss D. Lea, Miss M. McCorkill, Miss E. Mercer, Mrs. A. S. Miller, Mrs. A. M. Perry, Miss A. DEATH CALLS PIONEER OF FIFTY-EIGHT

"Black Jack" McDowell to Be Buried Here on Wednesday

FRONTIERSMAN OF NORTHWEST

In the death, at Vancouver, of Randal John McDowell, one of the most colorful personalities of the West has passed on, and a host of friends will mourn the ending of the life of an open-hearted and generous frontiersman.

Known for more than half a century as "Black Jack" McDowell, he was a man of indomitable courage and outstanding personality. A pioneer of the pioneers of Western civilization, he spent a lifetime on the frontier. The onward advance of settlement where civilization was in the raw, and where sturdy men combated with the unrelenting forces of Nature, had an uncanny attraction for big, generous "Black Jack" McDowell.

BORN IN CALIFORNIA
Born in San Francisco in 1853, the son of a former officer in the British army, he came to Victoria in 1858, when his adventurous father answered the lure of the Fraser River gold stampede. He grew up in Victoria, and saw the gradual development of this city from a palisaded trading post to a position of fame as one of the most beautiful cities in the world.

His mother opened a boarding house on what was then known as Bridge Street, and at this high class establishment the legislators who came to the Capital to attend the Colonial Parliament after the union of the Crown Colonies in 1866, made their seasonal residence. Here, too, came the Members of Parliament following Confederation. "Black Jack" McDowell knew them all, and as a youth naturally listened to their discussions of the topics of the day across the supper table, and developed an interest in public affairs that never waned throughout his long and active life. Though he never aspired to public office, his opinion on men and issues was sound, and was regarded with respect.

CATERED TO PUBLIC
It was natural, too, that young McDowell, brought up in the atmosphere of a lodging house, should early launch into the business and public entertainment. Old timers will recall his colorful connection with the sporting activities of the city in the nineties.

When the rush to the Klondike commenced, "Black Jack" was among the early adventurers to head North to the new Eldorado. It was not long before he was one of the most popular men in the Yukon. The lure of the North Country took hold of him and held him, and from that time on extended periods when he was away from the fringe of civilization were few.

In his youth and early manhood he had penetrated unknown sections of Vancouver Island and British Columbia with survey parties, and had attained a liking for the outdoors and the comradeship of those who were the advance guard of civilization.

So it was that after leaving the Yukon in 1905 he went up the Skeena River to the frontier town of Hazelton, where he opened a hotel in the little settlement which was the supply centre for mining and Indian trading. Later he sold out and opened another hotel at Port Eslington, a trading post which was the centre of outfitting for miners, fishermen and traders, and the terminal of traffic up and down the Skeena.

He became interested in a number of mining ventures of promise, but they failed to materialize in a big way.

WENT TO STEWART
Then when Stewart boomed as a new mining town, he headed for that place at the top of Portland Canal. Here he stayed for many years, engaged in mining and hotel-keeping, both in Stewart and in the adjoining American city of Hyder.

Several years ago he again changed his location, going to Smithers.

An old man now, he could not throw off the illness that attacked him several months ago, and finally consented to go into the Smithers Hospital.

Ten days ago he was brought south for further treatment in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, where he passed away yesterday.

GREAT SPORTSMAN
During these years of pioneering, he frequently returned to Victoria to stay for more or less extended periods, only to once more leave with the hope that in some new camp on the outskirts of civilization he would "make his pile."

Always in the forefront of the sporting activities of the day, being an enthusiastic follower of all forms of athletics. This same enthusiasm led him to the mining camps and trading posts of the Northwest, where in the rough parlance of the frontier he was always known as "a dead game" and a "straight shooter," signifying the highest form of competence for a man who dealt fairly with his fellows and was ever ready to assist a friend or a good cause in need.

He was a charter member of the local Aerle of Eagles, members of which will attend his funeral on Wednesday at 9 a.m. at St. Anne's Cathedral, the cortege leaving for the funeral home at 10 a.m. and a few moments before that time.

He is survived by two grandchildren, Miss Jean Burns, New Hazelton, and Clarence Goodacre, Smithers.

CELEBRATION OF JULY 1 PROPOSED

Special Committee of City Council
Appointed to Consider Change of Date

The proposal of the Native Sons of Canada that the city's chief celebration be held on July 1 was referred to a special committee for report by the City Council at its meeting last night.

Alderman Litchfield, sponsor of June 23 which was turned down, said he wished to make it clear that at no time had he suggested the elimination of July 1 as a celebration date; he had merely proposed June 23 as a suitable compromise between July 1 and May 24.

Members of the committee to consider the Native Sons' proposal are Aldermen H. O. Litchfield, William T. Strath and W. H. Kinsman.

SAYS CONTROL OF EDUCATION WILL BE HELD

per pupil. This proved a failure and in a survey made by Pearson and Weir, it was pointed out there were certain school districts which were actually making money for themselves by large cuts in teachers' salaries to teachers. From that system of handling school financing, some districts had a surplus left for purposes other than schooling.

"Another system tried," continued the minister, "was that of a flat grant per head of population. This also proved a failure. It was found there were many districts that paid no part of the teachers' salaries, which meant the government had to pay the other part as well as the flat grant. Furthermore, the government under that method had no way as to which teachers or how many of them, should be employed."

TOO MANY EMPLOYED
This meant, in short, there were school boards that appointed more teachers than were needed, as the government paid the whole of the salaries of some of them, the boards did not care how many teachers were appointed or how many of them, should be employed.

"Coming now to the present method, adopted recently, the grant consists of a percentage of the salaries of the teachers. The percentage varies with the assessed value of the district and the means and general conditions of the people of a district."

This method, Mr. Hinchliffe declared, is working satisfactorily where other failed. He gave instances of how the present government's plan is working out in various districts.

Necessity for the strictest economies with regard to education as well as to every other effort in times of depression was emphasized by Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance.

FEDERAL SESSION MOST IMPORTANT FOR MANY YEARS

Following session, and then it is doubtful if it will be before the Canadian Parliament, as the United States Senate appears to be determined to not approve or disapprove of this treaty until it is dealt with by that body.

WESTERN FINANCES
There are many important subjects that must be considered during the coming session. The finances of the Western Provinces and the Federal Government, to preserve their credit and that of the Dominion, will again have to come to the rescue by advancing large sums of money. It is considered quite possible that some steps will be taken this coming session to restrain the indiscriminate financial donations of provinces and large municipalities.

Another important measure that will be before Parliament is the creation of a Federal marketing board, which was proposed by the Federal Minister of Agriculture, and at the Toronto conference was approved by the Ministers of Agriculture of the various provinces. It is the belief that Canada has lost ground for its natural products in foreign markets by the lack of an intelligent system of marketing which would guarantee in these markets a continuous and superior grade of Canadian products.

DOUBLE BUDGET
It is probable that a unique feature of the coming session will be the double budget. The Government has not yet definitely decided that all tariff changes and other customs rearrangements will be made at the same time as the Imperial Conference legislation is introduced, but it is generally felt that it would be inadvisable to associate the two and that the Imperial Conference legislation should stand by itself, and the ordinary Canadian budget come in February or March of next year.

To bring the customary budget on at the present time would be unfair to the Finance Minister, as his changes in tariff and taxation of last session are just beginning to realize the revenue he anticipated. It is believed that Mr. Rhodes will be able to balance his budget this fiscal year.

The only certainty about the Railway Commission report that the two great systems will be perpetuated as independent organizations and that competition will be maintained in Canada. It is quite possible that there will be closer co-operation in telegraph and express services, and also that there will be a supervisory body to pass on capital expenditure of each road and to act as a court of appeal in the elimination of unnecessary competitive services. The economies effected by the railways and the upturn in business gives reasonable expectation that the National Railways will, at least after the present year, carry a considerable portion of fixed charges, and that the Canadian Pacific Railway will be able to resume at least 5 per cent dividend payments.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL
Under the redistribution, Nova Scotia will lose two constituencies and New Brunswick one, and British Columbia will gain two and Alberta one. The unit of representation is about 43,000, but it is believed that this will not be strictly adhered to and that representation in urban communities may be fixed at 50,000 and in rural districts at about 35,000 or less. The most marked changes will be in Ontario and Quebec, where a number of old constituencies will have to be united for electoral purposes to give just representation to the cities. There will be few changes in the three Prairie Provinces, but in British Columbia Vancouver and its environs will undoubtedly be allotted another member.

Undoubtedly the Federal Government will have to make a flotation of about $150,000,000 in either the United States, Canada or Great Britain this year. This is not needed for Federal Government purposes, except for refunding about $50,000,000, which will not add to the debt of the Dominion. It is quite safe to forecast that the Federal Government will pay its way.

C.N.R. DEFICITS
The Canadian National Railway will require for deficits and capital expenditures this year at least $70,000,000, and no doubt the Government will have to make advances for unemployment relief and to assist as possible the railways' finances of between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000. The proposed loan will therefore be almost wholly for provincial and railway purposes. It is quite possible that it will be a domestic loan, although there is every confidence at the present time that the Canadian dollar will be at par in New York before the end of the year; yet the policy of the Bennett Government is to relieve Canada as far as possible the financial bondage to the United States.

The South Huron by-election early in October will give a fair indication of the views of rural Ontario on the Bennett Government. This is a Liberal constituency and almost wholly rural. The population is mostly German and Scotch descent and agriculture is almost wholly confined to mixed farming. There may be three candidates in the field, as the Progressive party is positioning very near that of France in opposition to Germany's method of demanding equality in armaments.

ATTITUDE MODIFIED
ROME, Sept. 19 (AP).—The initial disappointment over the British armament vote expressed in Government circles today was modified when further to Germany's method of demanding equality in armaments. It was understood the senator and the ambassador discussed disarmament and the account taken by the German Government at a luncheon given by the Premier and attended also by Ministers of War Joseph Paul-Boncour, and other French Government officials.

It was understood the senator and the ambassador discussed disarmament and the account taken by the German Government at a luncheon given by the Premier and attended also by Ministers of War Joseph Paul-Boncour, and other French Government officials.

DEMAND IS OPPORTUNE
LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Government of Great Britain today took a position very near that of France in opposition to Germany's method of demanding equality in armaments.

In an official memorandum issued from the Foreign Office, the Government insisted the German problem must be solved by negotiations, and declared Germany's threat to withdraw from the Disarmament Conference was "unfortunate at a time when attention and energy should be directed to economic rehabilitation of the world."

"Granted that this question of equal status would have arisen before the Disarmament Conference concluded its work, there is a grave disadvantage in forcing it to the front at this stage," the note said.

SHORTAGE IN TRUST FUNDS LONG KNOWN

had been placed in the partnership account and later taken out by cheque.

Kerr's evidence was the first light yet thrown on the internal workings of Machray's office. The accused man acted as a bursar and chairman of the board of governors of the university and also as chancellor of the Church of England Diocese of Rupert's Land. Funds of both institutions are seriously depleted. The church losses have been placed at $860,000. Besides these, Machray is charged with theft of $30,000 from a former law partner.

JUDGE WARNS WITNESS
Chief Justice D. A. Macdonald warned the witness he was making dangerous admissions. A. B. Hudson K.C., representing the university, thought Kerr should have the protection of the court in case further proceedings were started, but the Chief Justice said he had no authority to grant protection, and again warned Kerr.

Kerr admitted he had known of a shortage in the trust funds held by the Machray-Sharpe partnership for some time. He had said nothing about the matter to Mr. Sharpe, as he thought such information should come from Mr. Machray, head of the firm, and not from an employee.

University funds, trust moneys of private individuals and personal funds of the partnership were all lumped together and kept in a common account with the Bank of Montreal, witness stated. Cheques were issued indiscriminately, and of four produced by Mr. Hudson three were for personal debts of the partnership and one, dated May 4, 1932, provided cash for prizes at St. John's College. All four were signed by Mr. Sharpe in the name of the partnership.

TREATMENT OF DONATIONS
Donations to the university had been deposited in the partnership account, Kerr declared. A cheque from the United Farmers of Manitoba for the Robert McKensie Memorial Fund had been endorsed by Machray and deposited in the general account. Other donations had been similarly treated.

Acting for Mr. Sharpe, W. L. McLaws opposed the petition and argued a partnership could not be placed in bankruptcy but only individual members. He contended Sharpe knew nothing of the way the university funds were handled and had committed no act of bankruptcy.

Kerr's evidence supported this contention. He said Machray gave all instructions in university matters and Sharpe could not have ascertained from the condition of the books that a shortage existed.

Other witnesses will continue tomorrow afternoon.

SIX DEAD IN HILL BATTLE

slain after they had fatally wounded Deputy Sheriff Andrew McGinnis and Hurt Phipps.

In the previous battle, before dawn Saturday, Bud McClain was killed and three companions escaped when Deputy Reece and other officers halted a motor car. They sought to question the quartette about an attempted hold-up on Bragg's Mountain early this month in which highwaymen killed Mrs. Susie Sharp and wounded her daughter and grandson. Reece was slain in the fight.

At Okanogan City, Superintendent Charles A. Burr of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, said a young man whom Carlisle and Love forced to take them into the thickets, where they were slain, had told officers two men, not one, were killed in the first fight. Burns believed the other body may have been secreted in the hills. Previously officers had believed Robert Trillinger, arrested at Eldon, Okla., late Sunday, might have been the fourth outlaw.

FEUD KILLINGS
MANCHESTER, Ky., Sept. 19.—Investigation of the feud shooting which killed two men and wounded another here yesterday was ordered by Circuit Judge William Lewis on empanelling the grand jury here today.

Conditions causing the killings are "deplorable," Judge Lewis told the grand jury men, in the course of a charge that lasted an hour and a half.

A company of National Guardsmen was on duty during the day at the county courthouse, from which marksmen fired yesterday the shots that killed Commonwealth Attorney Frank H. Baker and John Brockman, but as the town was quiet during the day part of the troops were ordered home.

FIRE SWEEPS ANCIENT CITY

by the Machray-Sharpe partnership for some time. He had said nothing about the matter to Mr. Sharpe, as he thought such information should come from Mr. Machray, head of the firm, and not from an employee.

University funds, trust moneys of private individuals and personal funds of the partnership were all lumped together and kept in a common account with the Bank of Montreal, witness stated. Cheques were issued indiscriminately, and of four produced by Mr. Hudson three were for personal debts of the partnership and one, dated May 4, 1932, provided cash for prizes at St. John's College. All four were signed by Mr. Sharpe in the name of the partnership.

TREATMENT OF DONATIONS
Donations to the university had been deposited in the partnership account, Kerr declared. A cheque from the United Farmers of Manitoba for the Robert McKensie Memorial Fund had been endorsed by Machray and deposited in the general account. Other donations had been similarly treated.

Acting for Mr. Sharpe, W. L. McLaws opposed the petition and argued a partnership could not be placed in bankruptcy but only individual members. He contended Sharpe knew nothing of the way the university funds were handled and had committed no act of bankruptcy.

Kerr's evidence supported this contention. He said Machray gave all instructions in university matters and Sharpe could not have ascertained from the condition of the books that a shortage existed.

Other witnesses will continue tomorrow afternoon.

SIX DEAD IN HILL BATTLE

slain after they had fatally wounded Deputy Sheriff Andrew McGinnis and Hurt Phipps.

In the previous battle, before dawn Saturday, Bud McClain was killed and three companions escaped when Deputy Reece and other officers halted a motor car. They sought to question the quartette about an attempted hold-up on Bragg's Mountain early this month in which highwaymen killed Mrs. Susie Sharp and wounded her daughter and grandson. Reece was slain in the fight.

At Okanogan City, Superintendent Charles A. Burr of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, said a young man whom Carlisle and Love forced to take them into the thickets, where they were slain, had told officers two men, not one, were killed in the first fight. Burns believed the other body may have been secreted in the hills. Previously officers had believed Robert Trillinger, arrested at Eldon, Okla., late Sunday, might have been the fourth outlaw.

FEUD KILLINGS
MANCHESTER, Ky., Sept. 19.—Investigation of the feud shooting which killed two men and wounded another here yesterday was ordered by Circuit Judge William Lewis on empanelling the grand jury here today.

Conditions causing the killings are "deplorable," Judge Lewis told the grand jury men, in the course of a charge that lasted an hour and a half.

A company of National Guardsmen was on duty during the day at the county courthouse, from which marksmen fired yesterday the shots that killed Commonwealth Attorney Frank H. Baker and John Brockman, but as the town was quiet during the day part of the troops were ordered home.

GERMANY AND DISARMAMENT

The Disarmament Conference resumes its sessions this week with Germany absent as a participating nation. Germany's decision is due to the French reply to her request for equality in armaments and the wiping out of those clauses in the Treaty of Versailles which limit her ability to define measures necessary for her national security. In view of the German attitude, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald has been counselling delay in the resumption of the Disarmament Conference. His counsel, apparently, has fallen on deaf ears as the delegates are assembling for the Geneva meeting.

The conference resumes with no measure of agreement in sight as to the principle on which a further reduction in armaments will be enforced. The viewpoint entertained by Mr. MacDonald is that the British, French, Italian and Polish Governments should give full and deliberate consideration to the German demand for equality in armaments before meeting to decide what world reductions can be effected. It appears, therefore, that the British Prime Minister is satisfied that the German plea is sound. In other words, since Mr. Arthur Henderson is Premier MacDonald's nominee at Geneva, the British viewpoint will be that Germany should have the equality she seeks. Mr. Henderson has already pronounced himself in favor of this course being approved.

The conference will forego tomorrow in an atmosphere unlikely to lead to agreement. The trouble at present is that France holds an opposite point of view to that of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. The French attitude is that there can be no four-power discussion on the German demand; that it is a subject proper only for consideration by the League of Nations, an organization which has become, as it were, the guardian of the Treaty of Versailles. France is correct in this respect. There are States in Europe which owe their origin to the Treaty of Versailles. They are entitled to consultation in any plans that may be devised for cancelling or altering the terms of that treaty.

IRISH FARMERS' PROTEST

Free State Ireland is essentially an agricultural country and its farmers are now protesting vigorously against the new problems created for them by the policies of Mr. de Valera. As a body they are demanding the immediate restoration of their overseas market, and that means the market in Britain. They do not approve of the economic war in which Britain and Ireland are engaged, and, conversely, they want to see payment to Britain of the Land Annuities resumed so that the old-time peaceful trading relationship will be restored. They are making themselves felt in this regard, and it seems that a number of farmers will withhold payment of the annuities to the Free State Government until such time as transmission of the moneys to Britain is resumed.

Certain county councils and other bodies in the Free State have been supporting the de Valera policy respecting Land Annuities. However, it is the farmers that comprise the section of the population most interested, and it is upon their welfare that the prosperity of the Free State depends. Those farmers are demanding an immediate settlement with Britain. A time has been reached when their livestock must be sold regardless of price and the conclusion is that a continuance of the 20 per cent. tariff against Free State exports will mean the farmers' ruin. The pressure being brought to bear on Mr. de Valera is growing in volume. That it will prevail eventually seems undoubted, because the small farmer is the backbone of the Flanna's following in the Free State.

At first the farmers gave support to Mr. de Valera on the understanding that the Land Annuities would not have to be paid at all to anyone. Now it has been discovered that Mr. de Valera intends to continue collecting them for his own purposes. As well, the farmers have discovered that they must pay heavy tariffs on both their sales and their purchases. Sentiment in favor of the de Valera Government has become proportionately damped. Thus the Free State economic problem fostered by Mr. de Valera is beginning to react on his own political fortunes. The solution will probably be forthcoming within the Free State itself.

UNECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The St. Lawrence Waterways Agreement, if brought to fruition, means subsidizing, to the tune of some scores of millions of dollars, a competitor with the existing railway companies. It is a simple lesson in economics to determine what this must mean. Presuming that, even to a limited extent, the waterways improvement would justify a portion of the expenditure that proposed it could only do so at the expense of the railways. One of Canada's greatest problems of the time is that of the finances of the Canadian National Railways. That problem must of necessity be intensified if more traffic is diverted from the railways to a canalized route from the Great Lakes to and via the St. Lawrence.

The practical viewpoint to be taken of the projected St. Lawrence Agreement is its economic potentiality. The only absolute certainty respecting it is that it will mean an addition of many millions of dollars to the public debt. The traffic increase that would ensue by the waterway route is merely guesswork, and much if not all of the traffic that could be secured would be obtainable at the expense of the existing railway systems. It is not the part of economic wisdom for any country to develop transportation needs beyond the possibilities of present and prospective requirements. So far as may be now foreseen at least a decade must elapse before there is any necessity of discussing a deep-water channel in the St. Lawrence as an economic necessity. A prerequisite to the development is the existence of sufficient prospective traffic to justify the outlay. That prospect does not maintain and will not until such time as the railways have all the traffic they can handle, and that includes also the traffic needs of the new Hudson Bay transportation route.

At present the railways are operating at less than 50 per cent. capacity. In other words, the existing transportation facilities, and these include what the proponents of the St. Lawrence development scheme call antiquated waterways, are starved for lack of traffic. It would seem the part of elementary economic wisdom to make the fullest possible use of the facilities that exist before attempting to add to the extent of those facilities. In proceeding at this time, or within the near future, with the St. Lawrence development scheme this country would be adding a new burden to an already over-mortgaged future. It is too great investment in transportation facilities that has created the most vital problem with which the Dominion has to cope at the present time. It appears the rankest kind of folly to continue to aggravate a problem that is already acute enough.

THE WRECKERS

The Liberal press of the Dominion omits no opportunity to seize upon and reproduce all criticism of the results of the Imperial Conference. Instead of giving those results a chance of making themselves felt in the interests of Imperial co-operation, that Liberal press, for the sake of party advantage, would defer the return of material prosperity. Simply because Mr. Mackenzie King did not represent the Dominion in the making of the present intra-Empire agreements it is sufficient for the Liberal press to attempt to nullify their results. It is a picaresque policy and one that by no means coincides with the opinion of the vast majority of Canadians. True Empire co-operation is a matter which will be made a successful accomplishment if all pull together for the good of the Imperial whole. Liberal newspapers and politicians in this country seemingly would wreck, if they could, the work accomplished at Ottawa.

There is an alarming decrease in Irish trade. For the twelve months ending July last the adverse balance was $14,888,000 as compared with $11,914,000 for the previous twelve months. During the January-July period of the present year the imports fell from $29,467,000 to $27,969,000, and the exports from $19,578,000 to $16,540,000. Free State policy under Mr. de Valera is having bad effects on the country, and, as yet, there are only the preliminary experiences apparent of what his policy means.

There is no decline in farm life in the Dominion. During the past decade Canada's farmers increased by 17,574, the total now being 728,664. In these farms full ownership is held by 586,229 farmers. There are 74,382 tenanted, and the balance are partly owned. At present a definitely progressive increase of land settlement is going on due to the arrangement between the provinces and the Dominion to assist in this method of solving unemployment.

POLINAIVEIGH

There are high hills in Kerry, round a deep, dark pool. The winds that blow across them there are soft and cool. The clouds that hang above them are the Saints' own bed. The golden lights they gather from God's throne were shed. Their sides are filled with sweetness and their clefts with prayer. God's love and Nature's loveliness are written there. The brown bog stretching by their feet is wide and lone.

But on the hills the world and life are all one's own. There is a brown thatch in Kerry; may the turf-smoke billow. From a warm hearth beneath it long come curling through. By lands and seas they've brought me here, this weary way. To break my heart for Kerry all and every day.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

O, then I see Queen Mab hath been with you.
She is the fairest of the fairies; and she comes in shape no bigger than an eagle's wing.
Drawn with a team of little atomies.
Over men's noses as they lie asleep.
—Shakespeare.

In the olden days when the common people were of simple faith and credulous, accepting everything told them by "their betters" as truth, almost everybody believed in fairies and fairy godmothers. In those benighted days parents considered any child's fortune made if that child had the luck to be "sponsored" by a fairy godmother, for every fairy godmother carried a magic wand, endowed with properties inherited from the parent of all miracle-performing wands, Aaron's Rod. Faith in fairies and fairy godmothers might have endured even into the present day but for the advent of the schoolmaster. When the schoolmaster arrived and began his travels, fairies were banished from the land. The result of the teachings of the schoolmaster was as effective as the theological scourge of the good St. Patrick. If the reader is of the old simple faith, he will not scoff at the tradition or the fact that the holy father drove all the snakes out of Ireland.

Although the schoolmaster has been abroad and about his business for many years, broadening and strengthening the minds of all the people and tearing up from their roots many ancient and silly superstitions, he has not quite succeeded in eradicating from the minds of multitudes of people a belief in fairies and the capacity of fairy godmothers to perform miracles. What the schoolmaster appears to have done, after having shattered the belief of modern people in fairies, is to substitute for the shadow of a fairy godmother the substance of a real fairy godmother, who can create an abundance of everything simply by a wave of her magic wand and endow those she favors with almost everything the heart can desire.

The modern fairy godmother, is of course, the Government. The individual seems to believe that there is no limit to the resources of the Government. In this much-governed country there are, of course, many governments. There is the Central Government, which is surrounded by a galaxy of governments, hanging on to the Central Government as the stars in their courses revolve around the heavenly body with the greatest attractive power. The appeal of the individual to one of the subsidiary governments is passed on to one of the governments higher up, and this is carried along its natural course until it reaches what may be called the parent body.

If the ultimate court of appeal finds that there are limits to its resources, that it is not actually a fairy godmother and is possessed of no magical wand capable of accomplishing miracles, such as turning base metals into gold or converting paper into real money by running it through a printing press, there are a multitude of people in the country in these times of depression who dismiss with a scornful wave of the hand such a plea of governmental impotence. Not so very many years ago, when Labor was not considered so important a factor in affairs of state as it is admitted to be today, the "slogan" of the party was a declaration that "labor creates all wealth," and the deduction from that dogma was that labor was entitled to its rightful share of the wealth it created.

There seems to be a more or less popular belief today that if governments do not create and are not the custodians of all wealth, there is at least no limit to the resources of governments, and that it is the duty of governments to apportion to each individual a fair share of the collective wealth of the nation. Of course the reply of governments to these modern demands will be that it has been endowed with no magical powers; that all the money in the national treasury has been collected from the people in the form of taxes; that if it provides one individual with dollars, it can do so only by taking dollars out of the pockets of other individuals, and that if it continues this process to its ultimate point, the state of the nation will be bankrupt.

One of the curious aspects of the modern public mind is that governments are enemies of the people. And yet the people adopted the existing forms of Government and have created governments out of materials of their own selection. Hence, it may be argued that the enemies of the people are the people themselves. And there may be more truth than poetry in that argument. Looking at the state of affairs in a neighboring country, where the fruits of democracy seem to be overripe and where the business of racketeering appears to be highly popular and very profitable, where there is neither individual nor national discipline, where powerful organizations have been formed for the purpose of raiding the national treasury, and "have got away with it"—surveying such disturbing manifestations, there is ground for apprehension that popular opinion is beginning to regard governments as the enemies of the people, and that the "culminating manifestation may be a conviction that all the people may acquire wealth and leisure to chase after elusive happiness "forever after" by robbing one another.

MORE INTEREST SHOWN IN STOCK

More interest is being manifested in the rearing of livestock throughout the Western parts of Canada than has been the case for some time back, says A. W. Peterson, of Ottawa, who is connected with the livestock end of the Department of Agriculture for the Dominion. Mr. Peterson is associated with the sheep and swine division and has been making an inspection of the various offices throughout the West.

He was in Victoria over the weekend preparatory to starting his eastward trip.

Letters to the Editor

PRIME MINISTER

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AS

Sir—Mr. Percival's record in today's Colonist of the activities of Britain's Prime Minister, who also held that position in the late Socialist Government was "would-be Empire wreckers," is well worth the attention of those who look on this idealist as a national hero.

But Mr. Percival's record in today's Colonist of the activities of Britain's Prime Minister, who also held that position in the late Socialist Government was "would-be Empire wreckers," is well worth the attention of those who look on this idealist as a national hero.

After the result of the late elections in Britain, how Ramsay MacDonald came to be Prime Minister again, and Snowden to be made a peer of the realm is a conundrum to me, but I for one can never forget nor forgive the harm the late Socialist Government did in the Old Country.

COMIC CUTS

Sir—A few days ago a letter appeared in your paper under the above title, in which the writer, Mr. Ware, seemed to take great exception to the comic strips. Either Mr. Ware is trying to be excessively funny, or he is sadly lacking in humor. I should like to ask Mr. Ware if, when he was a child, he did not read the funny strips in the daily papers. If he did not he must have been a most extraordinary child. I do not know and care less if Mr. Ware is married and has children, but if such is the case I wonder if he allows his children to read the comic strips.

For my own part I thoroughly enjoy them and hope that they may last long.

I should like to know from where Mr. Ware got his information that all the subscribers to The Daily Colonist were either ex-naval or military men. It is very interesting to find Mr. Ware's opinion, but I like to say that if Mr. Ware does not approve of the comic strips in the paper, there is absolutely no law to force him to do so, but at the same time it would be far better for him to be tolerant and let those who enjoy them do so. FARMERS AND DEPRESSION

Sir—The farmers of Iowa are striking for higher returns for the products of their labor. This is the first instance on record, I think, of an organized strike by farmers, such as this strike in Iowa. Not a bad ideal if buyers, carpenters, etc., can go on strike for higher wages (backed by their unions) for $7 to $14 a day, why not the farmers for higher returns for the products of their labor? R. B. D., of "The Colonist," doesn't seem to have a bit of sympathy for farmers. I would like to see him up there, for a number of years, then when he got sufficient of a crop to sell, find after he had done so, that he was in debt to the box store or the freight carrier, etc. The commission agent to whom he consigned his fruit having disposed of only one box of apples and the rest of plums out of fifty packages sent.

The best solution for the farmer would be to work shorter hours and produce less. Five or six hours a day would be enough. Five or six hours a day well-applied labor, with no loafing, would do a great deal. The farmer would have four or five acres of hay, cultivate about two acres of potatoes, and so on. It is bread that makes the farmer poor, long hours and plant and so many acres as possible with the idea that the longer and harder he works and the more acreage he gets under the plow, the bigger his bank account will grow. That's the theory. The practice is the exact opposite, i.e., instead of his bank account growing it dwindles to vanishing point or survives up to the point where he is bankrupt.

To prove my point I might state that if a big, or would-be big, farmer planted five acres of potatoes instead of five or six acres he would get $1.50 per 100 lbs. from his five acres, instead of 50 cents a sack from his ten acres. He would save $1.50 per 100 lbs. and he would have the extra five acres, the ploughing, the harrowing, the cultivating, the digging, the sacking, the marketing, etc., and what a nice little bank account (he would make in itself! Then there is the extra 50 cents a sack from the extra five acres only worth 10 cents. It would mean that he would get two and half the outlay he would get two or three times the return. I am sure potatoes are not so much to pay. It is the lure, however, that makes many farmers plant ten acres or more of potatoes with the hope that from the crop, at this price (or greater), they will be able to retire to the city, build a new house, pay off the mortgage, or some other dream that goes bust when he has to sell for $1.50 a ton (instead of $4.50 a ton) advertised, delivered, etc., nothing at all—nothing per ton. The same rule applies to other lines of farming to a greater or lesser extent.

If farmers could hold together and resist the temptation to go for half their products, wheat, potatoes, pigs, eggs, fruit, and all other products of their labor, they would get more for the remaining half, and save greatly in marketing, handling, and other charges—almost an equal amount. The trouble is to apply this remedy. The college grocers of Brazil could do it. They destroyed 7,500,000 lbs of the recent huge crop of coffee so as to keep the market price of coffee up to their liking. This is applied proof of my contention. It is a hint to Prairie wheat farmers, and all farmers, to hold together and resist or cut the hours of work down by half—produce half as much.

Why should a carpenter or a bricklayer get paid with eight hours a day at $7 to $14 a day and a farmer have to work twelve hours a day (producing stuff he can't sell at a consequence) for these long hours for a dollar a day? Henry Ford was long headed when he ad-

British Financier Is Hopeful for Gradual Revival of Business

Major Ashley Cooper, Hudson's Bay Company Governor, Sees Signs of Definite Trade Recovery—Covered Much Territory by Using Plane

"My business is not to run the stores and the other enterprises with which the Hudson's Bay Company is identified; it is to know what is going on in the world and to ascertain just what the next move will be," said Major Ashley Cooper, governor of the company which has for hundreds of years been identified with trade in Canada. His present tour is in line with this policy with the hope that the Hudson's Bay Company may keep well abreast of the times.

The governor is by no means a pessimist. He has no doubt about the return of better things, but he offered a warning to those who were too ready to see a sudden revival of business in the world by the magic movement.

When interviewed last evening, Major Cooper said that he was

William Hanson, Aged Nine, Suffers Head Injuries in Motorcycle Accident

William Hanson, aged nine years, of 1728 Cook Street, who sustained head injuries in a motorcycle accident on Sunday, was reported to be in an improved condition by attendants at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday.

The boy was playing on the road at the intersection of Cook and North Park Streets, when struck down by a motorcycle ridden by Robert Carlow, 1318 Ivy Street, according to the police report.

Mrs. Ralph Lowe, of Tod Inlet, and a friend, Miss Lena Buse, suffered minor injuries in another accident that occurred on Sunday, when the car in which they were riding collided with a bus at the intersection of Quadra and Yates Streets. Both were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where cuts from flying glass received medical attention.

Just Roamin' Around

"Dear me!" said Rover, as we came out of the Victoria City Library late on Saturday night just before closing time. "That is almost as bad as the panic crash at the Hudson's Bay affair on Thursday night."

We had gone to exchange the books we had out (three historical autobiographies, of supreme interest) and were laden with some more books of personal experience, and, after a trying three-quarters of an hour of searching for what we wanted, making room for other books to pass by in the usual Saturday evening rush, we were glad to get out into the fresh air and with some measure of freedom for our arms and corporations after our harried navigating between bookcases that all but touch each other and from the compactness of the crowd.

"Rover!" said I. "It is about time that we citizens of Victoria got busy and assisted the authorities to acquire a new library building. We have been talking of this for years; but, like so many other things we need here, that is about as far as we ever get!"

A CRYING NEED
The girls who serve the reading public in the City Library are always civil, polite, obliging and most patient. A library girl has to exercise as much, and more, patience than anyone we know. Very strictly is exacting when inside the doors of a public library, whatever may be its disposition on the outside of the building, or at home. For our harried navigating between bookcases that all but touch each other and from the compactness of the crowd.

INSPECTED EVERYTHING
Yesterday Major Cooper was one of the earliest on the ground at the store of the Hudson's Bay Company, being there ahead of the opening up of the place to business. A little later he was addressing the heads of the departments upon the last that confronted the company and the need of united action in connection with the business.

With P. A. Chester, general manager of the company in Canada, the governor, led by the energetic local manager, A. J. Watson, made a tour of the store, inspecting everything in connection with the establishment.

This is the governor's second visit to Canada since taking over the post he occupies. In the opinion of Major Cooper, the British conversion loan, which was carried out with such signal success in the Old Land, is one of the biggest things in the financial history of modern times. As a director of the Bank of England, the visitor is in a position to place a proper estimate upon this transaction. It has served, he believes, to show just the spirit that is behind the British people and spells great things for the future.

OUTSTANDING EVENTS
The results of the Economic Conference at Ottawa cannot be fully appreciated as yet, but Major Cooper classifies the results of that gathering as of immense importance to the Empire and to the world. Coupled with these, he adds the Lausanne Conference, and the combined effects of these cannot fail to make for far better things in the near future. He admonishes the public not to be over zealous in its expectations, however.

On his visit here Major Cooper was accompanied by Mrs. Cooper, Mr. Chester, F. A. Stacpole, London manager of the company, and G. R. Macdonald, secretary to the governor.

George W. Allan, chairman of the Canadian committee, arrived a few days ahead of the remainder of the party. They all left last night for Vancouver and will pay a visit to Harrison Hot Springs, returning later to inspect the stores and offices in Vancouver before leaving for the East.

Including the tour of South America, Major Cooper has traveled between 15,000 and 20,000 miles since he left his home in London.

WATER BY-LAW TO BE CHANGED

Lower Minimum Rate Will Be Given Places Having More Than One Service

An amendment to the water by-law to adjust differences of opinion that have arisen over the minimum charge clause was recommended to the City Council at its meeting last night by the finance committee.

Under the proposed amendment, auto camps, apartment houses and other places where more than one service is used will pay a minimum charge of two dollars for the first two services and twenty-five cents for each additional service.

Earlier this year the by-law was amended to make the minimum charge one dollar for each connection.

URGENT RESCINDING OF LEGISLATION

Council Endorses Motion Asking Government to Assume Welfare Costs

The City Council at its meeting last night endorsed the resolution from the council of Pitt Meadows in which the Provincial Government was asked to rescind the legislation placing part of the cost of social services upon municipalities.

Alderman Alex Peden, chairman of the relief committee, in supporting the motion, said that the city's relief officer and himself had inspected the Esplanade Mental Hospital and returned convinced more than ever that the placing of such burdens on the municipality was unjust.

He also referred to the mothers' pensions and said: "It is ridiculous for the Provincial Government to think that such social services are the responsibility of a municipality. The more I study these matters the more I am convinced that the fairest way of taxation for the administration of social service is through the Provincial Government."

Too many responsibilities were already placed on the shoulders of property holders without adding other burdens, he claimed.

WHALING OPERATIONS MAY BE CARRIED ON AGAIN NEXT SEASON

If the upward movement in oil prices continues to be maintained throughout the winter, the Victoria fleet of whaling vessels will be employed next year, according to William Schupp, president of the Consolidated Whaling Company and the American Pacific Whaling Company, who was a business visitor to the city yesterday.

The proposed meeting between millmen and loggers, as to co-ordinating output from British Columbia woods, has been postponed a week. It was intimated by Hon. N. S. Loughheed, exports for the month of October, when prepared early in October, will be the slight upward trend, it is anticipated.

Bonds Sold—The $200,000 refunding issue has been completely sold at par, the finance committee reported at last night's meeting of the City Council. The last block of $20,000 was taken up yesterday.

To Examine Cattle—Unexplained deaths in cattle herds of the Grandell ranch, at Strathnaber, south of Prince George, will be investigated at the request of the owners by Dr. A. Knight, chief veterinary inspector for the Province. Dr. Knight left Tulkwa yesterday for the north. The possibility of weed poisoning, among other things, will be investigated.

Return From East—Following attendance at the Imperial Economic Conference, which he attended for the newspaper, Archie Willis, news editor of The Times, spent a month touring through Ontario. He returned more than a thousand miles in the old province. Mr. and Mrs. Willis and family returned to Victoria at the week-end.

False Alarm—Responding to an alarm that an explosion had been detected at the Metropolitan store on Douglas Street, police were dispatched to the scene Sunday afternoon prepared to shoot it out with criminals. When the building had been surrounded, entrance through one of the doors was gained, but it was discovered that the "explosion" was caused by the failure of a large display in one of the windows.

Land Is Granted—Crown grant of one and a half acres of land in the Goldstream district was authorized by the Provincial Government yesterday, in a transfer to the trustees of the Goldstream school district of the property, for school purposes.

Insurance Visitors—Metropolitan life insurance officers from the East are in the city, being registered at the Empress Hotel. The party includes H. W. Wright, third vice-president, whose headquarters are in Ottawa. Accompanying him are J. D. Smith, superintendent of agencies. They are inspecting the Victoria office, conferring with W. W. Macdonald, the local manager.

Sanction Permits—Twenty-six building permits, with a total value of $8,830, were issued from the Sanction Municipal Hall last week. These, eight were taken out for dwellings, the total value being $7,220. A permit for a four-roomed frame dwelling on Doncaster Drive, to cost $2,000, was issued to Mrs. S. E. Dawe. Construction work will be done by J. C. Browning. A six-roomed frame dwelling, valued at $2,900, will be erected on Cedar Avenue, according to another permit issued.

Lumbermen Meeting—Representatives of several British Columbia mills met at a two-day gathering at Nanaimo, closing Saturday, for a general discussion of export sales to the city yesterday. The meeting was held at the Legislative Building. The proposed meeting between millmen and loggers, as to co-ordinating output from British Columbia woods, has been postponed a week. It was intimated by Hon. N. S. Loughheed, exports for the month of October, when prepared early in October, will be the slight upward trend, it is anticipated.

BOAT OWNERSHIP IS IN DISPUTE

Appeal to Judge Will Decide Question of How Many Have Shares in Craft

The trial of the action associated with ownership of the launch Sheik, which was built in the yard of Charles W. McAllister, in Fairfield district, opened in the Supreme Court yesterday before Mr. Justice Murphy. The plaintiff in the action is Christopher L. Hosking and Bertha McAllister, who claim ownership of the boat. The defendant, who claims to be the sole owner, is Henry Bird, a shipbuilder.

The case was in progress all day yesterday, with H. W. Davey appearing for the prosecution and R. C. Lowe for the defence. The case for the prosecution was completed before adjournment. The case will be resumed this morning at 11 o'clock, when Mr. Bird's side will be presented.

The claim of Mrs. McAllister is that she was supplying $25 a month to the defendant for the construction of the boat. Mr. Bird at the time was a boarder at the home of Mrs. McAllister. Mr. Hosking, who was a friend, assisted in his spare time with the work of actually building the craft. There appeared to have been no direct understanding as to what share each would have in the boat under the arrangement which is alleged by the prosecution. The construction of the vessel proceeded rather slowly as it depended upon the workers on it laboring only in their spare time. The start of the construction was in the Fall of 1925, and the boat was not completed until about the end of 1930.

The contention of the defence is that the ownership in the boat rests with Mr. Bird alone.

Japan Reorganizing Forces in Manchuria

The changes would increase the total of the forces now there, which has been estimated at 55,000.

WOODYARDS TO BE REGULATED

City Land Commissioner Will Make Survey and Submit By-Law

All woodyard licences will be cancelled by the city on January 15. It was decided at last night's meeting of the council, on the recommendation of the lands committee.

All operators of woodyards will apply for new licences thereafter, and will have to comply with a by-law that will be drafted and ratified before that date.

Major Kirkpatrick Crockett, land commissioner, also was instructed to make a survey of the situation, together with the complaints received, and draft a by-law to meet existing conditions and provide for future development.

MAYOR REPORTS ON RELIEF COST

Nearly $11,000 Would Be Added to Civic Budget by New Allowance Scale

Mayor David Leeming submitted a report of the Union of B.C. Municipalities' executive meeting with the relief committee of the Provincial Government to the council at its meeting last night. The report included an outline of the proposed new scale of allowances, and Alderman P. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, pointed out in this regard that the city's burden would be increased $10,000 this year in respect to relieving poor and destitute.

The Whistler reiterated that Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, expected municipalities in future to look more to private charity donations to defray relief costs than in the past.

He also stated that another conference had been held with the relief committee yesterday afternoon when it was revealed that the new scale of relief allowances was tentative and had not been ratified yet by the Cabinet.

OPPOSES NEW SCALE

An attempt by Alderman John Worthington to place the council on record as opposing to the scale failed last night owing to the fact that no official announcement of the new relief scale had been received.

His motion will be considered at next Monday's meeting of the council.

Alderman Brown said that under the proposed scale the city's cost of relief would be increased nearly $11,000, and that every effort should be made to forestall the institution of such a scale as proposed by the Provincial Government's relief committee.

VITAMIN B IN BRAN, RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's All-Bran contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, All-Bran brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in All-Bran is simply that of bran. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently cleans the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make All-Bran finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by All-Bran is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasantness than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoons daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red and green packages. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Letters to Editor

DR. WEIR AND THE U.B.C.
 Sir, I note in The Victoria Daily Times, September 14, an interview with Dr. G. M. Weir, of the U.B.C.

Dr. Weir seems to have an extraordinary idea of education, when he undertakes to not only criticize the Kidd Report but also to lecture the public of British Columbia on how they spend their money. He is a public servant, supported by the public, and as such his lecture is sheer impertinence.

Again, Dr. Weir quotes British Columbia has been liberated by prohibitionists and others for her vast expenditure on liquor, and yet any ten-year-old observant boy without an expensive college education, such as Dr. Weir possesses, could tell you that at least 75 per cent of the liquor sold in British Columbia is bought by tourists and traders for the U.S.A. market.

It does not inspire anyone with much confidence in the faculty of the U.B.C. when such statements are made that the people of B.C. spend 60 per cent more for liquor than they do for university education.

The lump cost of education in B.C. is about $7.50 per capita; Quebec is less than $3.00, and other provinces in proportion, so that the Kidd charges of extravagance of our educational board are justified and quite true.

It should be apparent to even Dr. Weir that no government can control the purchase and uses of luxuries by the public. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent on motor cars in British Columbia for pleasure alone; thousands of dollars are spent on fashions, candies, shoes, etc. Dr. Weir argues that people should give up these things and spend their money in trying to fit square pegs in round holes, which is largely the function of the U.B.C. the attitude of those students, a few months ago, would condemn the whole institution in the eyes of the educated?

I note Dr. Weir quotes Sir Henry Newbolt as an authority on education. Perhaps the doctor will enlighten the public on what happened to Sir Henry Newbolt when he visited the U.B.C. some few years ago. Was this a proof of the value of a U.B.C. education?

The members of the committee that got out the Kidd Report made an honest effort to help British Columbia out of its present financial difficulties. It will become any member of an institution, drawing revenue from the public, to criticize the hand that has so liberally fed them in the past. The U.B.C. is an expensive luxury and as such must expect to share in the coming retrenchment; and as regards its use to the public I know of no better stroke of economy than closing it down for good.

I quite agree (and Dr. Weir's attitude is correct) with the criticism of the members of the Kidd Commission on the U.B.C. Any educational concern that is not self-sacrificing enough to help the country in time of need is useless to the Province.

F. J. BOURNE
 Deep Cove, B.C., September 15, 1932.

PARTY PATRONAGE

Sir—When critics blame party government for governmental wastefulness and extravagance, is it party government that they really mean or is it party patronage?

Is it party government or party patronage that causes a constant increase in the number of government officials? Is it party government or party patronage that keeps those officials silent about wasteful contracts, scandals and poor work?

Is it party government or party patronage that is the hidden cause of extravagant legislation?

The Civil Service should be the bulwark of the taxpayer against padded contracts, padded work and needless expenditure of every kind, but how can it be when every civil servant knows that he is himself being paid by the party patronage at the mercy of party patronage?

As long as appointments to and dismissals from government service are made by party patronage, the Civil Service will be unable to give the country full and fearless service.

Until so recently as last May it has seemed to me impossible that the Civil Service could be put beyond the reach of the patronage system. Whatever act might be put through by one legislature, the next could change it. However non-partisan the commissioner appointed by one government, however "permanent" his appointment, the next legislature could change it.

But last May the Privy Council gave a judgment (Attorney-General of New South Wales vs. Trethowan, 1932, A.C. 526), the effect of which makes it possible to put the Civil Service securely and securely beyond the reach of party patronage.

Shortly, what the Privy Council has declared is that any legislature, possessed of sovereign powers and the control of its own funds and procedure can pass an act that cannot be changed or repealed without a referendum.

If our Legislature puts into the Civil Service Act, sections appointing Civil Service commissioners for a fixed term of years at a fixed salary and giving the commission full authority to "hire and fire"; if it will add to those sections a section requiring that any proposed act to alter or repeal any of those sections shall be submitted to a referendum before it is submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor for the royal assent, any act which purports to change those sections but has not been approved by a referendum will be null and void.

And when our Legislature does this, our Civil Service will become in the fullest sense the servant of the state and will no longer be the puppet of party patronage.

Would such an act make a very solid plank in the platform of a Union Government?

CHAMBER MUSIC RECITAL GIVEN

Mme. Ethel Lawson Boak Violin Ensemble, Makes Debut With Assisting Artists

Reassuring evidence of a definite move to stimulate interest in chamber music in Victoria was found in the private recital given Saturday evening at 1230 Central Avenue. Sponsored by Mme. Ethel Lawson Boak, it was a delightful in every detail, and the big audience expressed its appreciation with great enthusiasm. With experience, technical knowledge, and a gift in the role of conductor, for inspiring others, Mme. Lawson Boak has achieved wonders in developing a fine little violin ensemble within a short space of time, and some very charming and well-balanced work was heard, particularly in the cleverly-contrasted group which included the smooth-moving Tenaglia "Aria" and the crisp staccato "Norwegian Dance," by Grieg, treated with infectious spirit.

Other ensemble arrangements, as shown below, were performed with good taste and musical appreciation. In Mme. Eva Baird the recital had the assistance of a great artist with a magnificent rich, expressive and supple voice. Particularly beautiful numbers were the two songs by Mme. Lawson Boak, which she sang with violin ensemble and piano accompaniment. As compositions they possess great appeal and beauty of form and melody, and Mme. Baird sang them with feeling and artistic sympathy.

Minuet from Military Symphony (Haydn), the Lawson Boak violin ensemble, Mrs. G. Finch Page at the piano.

Two soprano solos from Bach cantatas, charmingly sung by Mrs. Hebdon Gillespie; Miss J. Wilkinson, violin obligato; accompanist, Miss Page. These had a peculiarly suitable atmosphere.

Violin duets, by Godard (a) "Abandon," (b) "Minuet," (c) "Trio," Madame Lawson Boak and

The thought then is that we should try to remember just what strain the heart is under during and immediately after an illness and remain in bed long enough to give it an opportunity to regain its reserve power.

Pioneer Missionary Won Respect and Affection

Mrs. Henry Bailey Recalls Frontier Experiences of Seventies Shared With Late Father Nikolay on West Coast

"He was just like a brother, and we would have done anything for him; the Indians, too, became very fond of him, although he was, perhaps, the first priest in that part of the West Coast."

This warm tribute to the late Father Nikolay, pioneer priest of the Catholic diocese of Victoria, for many years among the Indians on the West Coast, was made yesterday by Mrs. Henry Bailey, of 1157 Pembroke Street, who more than fifty years ago shared many frontier experiences with the Belgian missionary when, as a young matron of eighteen or nineteen, she accompanied her first husband, the late Captain Brown, to Kyquoot.

"We went up to Kyquoot in 1876, two years after we were married, my husband having received an appointment to take charge of a trading station for Captain Spring and Captain Warren. Shortly after we arrived there, Father Nikolay arrived."

"He was just newly out from Belgium or Holland, and did not know English or any of the Indian dialects, so his work was unusually difficult. We were the only other white people in that part of the West Coast, and he had to learn everything about the Indians either from what other priests had told him, or from us or his own experiences. He had black hair when he arrived among us a young man, but within a year he had grown gray-haired from the anxiety and hard work," recalled Mrs. Bailey.

WELCOME FRIEND
The Browns were very glad to see Father Nikolay land, when they learned to know his sterling character and kindly nature they came to regard him as a near and dear friend. The fact that they themselves were not Catholics made no difference whatever in their relationships. In fact, they never thought about denominations in their associations with him. As the only other white people in the community, the priest came to their home constantly, spending nearly all his evenings with them, playing cards, then, lantern in hand (after a warm today on cold nights) making his way along the lonely beach to his little cabin.

"The first thing he did after he arrived at Kyquoot was to build a church and a jail. The latter was so low that the Indians had to squat in it. The offences for which Indians were to be incarcerated were falling to observe the Sabbath or interfering with other Indians' wives, but the first man jailed was so terrified by the experience, probably chiefly because of his own guilty conscience, that he nearly went crazy. Whatever he said about the experience had a very salutary effect on the other Indians, who behaved so well that there never was any further occasion to use the jail as long as we remained in Kyquoot."

Mrs. Bailey said, in recalling this part of Father Nikolay's work in the village.

WON INDIANS OVER
The Indians themselves came to respect and love this saintly man, and he made many converts among the natives. Mrs. Bailey herself was so fond of the priest that she, or her husband or children, would do almost anything he asked them. Several times she acted as godmother for Indian children whom he baptized.

"He was extremely kind to Indians who were sick, and many times he came over and asked me to make gruel or some other little thing for them. It always made me glad to be able to help. He needed little comforts for the children, too, and many things of this kind he appealed to us for."

"Never was a man more welcome," Mrs. Bailey repeated in concluding her tribute to the priest. "It was such a relief to see another white face and to have someone who would try to speak English to us. Although we were not of the same faith, we gladly let him teach our children the first lessons in religion. They were lonely years, and I am sure he valued our friendship, as we did his."

When they left the West Coast to return to Victoria in 1878, the Browns sold their goats to Father Nikolay, a fact which Mrs. Bailey recalls with an admixture of amusement.

Autumn Calls for Smart Garments

Autumn days call for spruce street and country clothes in bright shades combined with leaf browns and navies, and other rich colors. These characteristics are observed in the one-piece dress at the left above. Lacy tweed combines brown, white and orange in this tailored coat dress, with brown buttons and orange facings. The diagonal revers and well-shaped skirt, though generally becoming, are particularly flattering to the mature woman.

Contrasting fabric, a leaf and double-breasted jacket blouse are the features of the two-piece sports costume at the right. It combines a green and brown plaid skirt with a plain green wool jacket with large brown buttons.

Simplicity characterizes the brown wool jumper dress, centre. It is completed by a light crepe blouse with long puffed sleeves. Wide shoulders and trim, slim lines with interesting sleeve details reveal the new Autumn mode.

Apple Dumplings

with Magic Baking Powder

"When a young housewife asks me what baking powder she should use," says Miss De Both, director of the famous De Both Home Makers' Cooking Schools, "this is my advice: Use the best—one that is pure, uniform and invariably dependable. You can't use second-rate baking powder and expect first-rate results."

"My experience with Magic has been particularly happy. I find that it never varies—that it is consistently reliable. And I know it is pure, and free from harmful ingredients." Statements by other well-known cookery authorities give wholehearted support to Miss De Both's judgment.

In fact, the majority of dietitians and cookery teachers throughout Canada use and recommend Magic exclusively.

It Will Do the Same for You

WHEN will the world come to realize that the food it eats is of transcending importance? If "higher civilization" means more denatured—more refined foods—sickness and disease will become rampant; disease of all the vital organs will continue their gruesome rate of increase.

We must overcome the state of acidity (excess acid) to which modern foods reduce the blood. The blood of civilized people must be turned back again to a normally alkaline state if we are to resist the attacks of disease.

People are commencing to realize this. This is why more and more people are turning to Roman Meal as the most important agent in restoring alkalinity to the blood. Roman Meal is one of the three alkali-forming grain foods known—Bekus Puddy and Lishus being the other two. These, with milk, fresh fruits and vegetables, overcome excess acid and, by making the blood normally alkaline, turn the human body into a fortress impregnable to the relentless attacks of disease.

What Roman Meal has done for others it will do for you

Disease does not simply "come to you"; wrong living invites disease. Right living banishes it

TO HOLD DAHLIA SHOW THIS WEEK

The fifth annual show of the Victoria Dahlia Society will be staged in the ground floor space of the corner view of the corner view of Broad Street, next Friday and Saturday. Entries have been pouring in for the past few days, and it is expected the show will be one of the most successful ever held under the auspices of the society.
Entries for the show must be sent to W. B. Christopher, at Fox's Cutlery Store, View Street. All varieties entered in the show must be named and the exhibits must be staged at noon on Friday.
The prize list includes classes for novices and open classes, and a section for seedlings. Special awards will also be made for the largest Dahlia in the show and for the best Dahlia exhibited.

RONALD COLMAN IN "ARROWSMITH"

The names of people of recognized great achievements crowd round "Arrowsmith," Ronald Colman's new picture, which comes to the Empire Theatre on Friday. Sinclair Lewis, author of the novel from which it was taken, is the only American novelist ever to be awarded a Nobel Prize for literature. Sidney Howard, who adapted it to the screen, was awarded a Pulitzer Prize several years ago for his hit drama "Kismet." John Ford, who directed it, is acknowledged throughout the picture world to have made one of the greatest pictures of history in "The Iron Horse" when he first came to fame.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

MASTERS OF BRIDGE
Mr. Nathan Kelly, of Brookline, Mass., is said by his friends in Boston to be the best card player in the world, and with his natural pride in the pre-eminence of the capital of New England, they add that it goes without saying that he is hence the best card player in the world. Mr. Kelly does not often participate in tournament play, so there are few examples of his skillful card reading.
The hand below, however, is such a beautiful exhibition of card reading and play that it gives me great pleasure to show it as an example of Mr. Kelly's skill.

Of course, viewing the cards as they lie, West's bid of three hearts could have been set three tricks for a penalty of 1,000 points, only slightly offset by the 100 honor count. With Mr. Kelly's holding, however, this result appeared improbable, but his strength was such as to suggest the strong likelihood of game in spades, even though his partner was unable to bid further. His bid of game in spades cannot be seriously criticized. The alternative would have been a penalty double, which in this instance, his partner, no doubt, would have permitted to stand.
When the heart king was led and the dummy was exposed, Mr. Kelly realized that he faced a difficult problem in the making of his contract if the trumps did not break and that he might easily lose five

CAPITOL OFFERS 'BY WHOSE HAND'

Ben Lyon Stars in Leading Role of "By Whose Hand?"
The picture, "By Whose Hand?" is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. This has the unique setting of an express train at night. The entire action of the picture is unfolded entirely on this train. Lyon and the girl, portrayed by the alluring Barbara Weeks, get caught in a mesh of murder, mystery and humor, along with eleven other passengers on the Pullman.
In support of Lyon and Miss Weeks, Ben Stollhoff, the director, assembled an excellent cast of finished screen players, including William W. Mong, Nat Pendleton, Dwight Frye, Helene Millard, Ethel Kanyon and William Halligan.
The second feature is one of human interest comedy-drama.

PLAYHOUSE Ronald Colman is THEATRE said to give his finest portrayal in years in "The Devil to Pay," his latest picture now playing at the Playhouse Theatre. According to the opinions of his millions of admirers that is saying considerable. But the story is exactly the type that best fits the Colman personality, and the popular star takes full advantage of the opportunity.
COLUMBIA Seth Parker, Lis, M. THEATRE Cephus and Cap, the two brothers, who bring their hour of rural happiness into millions of homes over the N.B.C. network every Sunday night, are now on the screen. Radio Pictures has put this genial Maine philosopher and his radio family in a simple, human story, "Way Back Home," now at the Columbia Theatre, which gives Seth an opportunity to bring out his unique radio character portrayal.

ROMANO Theatregoers will new THEATRE humming some new catches when they have seen and heard "Puttin' On the Ritz," the United Artists all-dialogue musical film special starring the Broadway singing favorite, Harry Richman, now at the Romano Theatre. Eight new songs, several of them written by Berlin especially for the picture, are introduced to the public by Richman in this production.

DOMINION Evelyn Knapp is the THEATRE only actress in Hollywood who has ever won the chance to play two ingenue leads in George Arliss' pictures. She is now at the Dominion Theatre with George Arliss in "A Successful Calamity." While many men in the Arliss companies are cast again and again in support of the star, Miss Knapp holds the honor among the women all by herself—with one exception. The exception is Alice Joyce, who played in both the silent and talking version of "The Green Goddess," but who has not repeated two roles with Arliss since talking pictures were introduced.

EMPIRE "Life Goes On," the THEATRE current attraction at the Empire Theatre, was entirely filmed in England. This clever comedy mystery drama features Hugh Wakefield and Elsie Randolph, both well known to English theatregoers. The story is laid in a modern hotel with a futuristic background. Jack Raymond directed.
A certain battalion was lined up for inspection. With them was their mascot, a Great Dane. Something annoyed the dog and it uttered a loud "Bow-wow."
The whole battalion formed fours.

MARJORIE TODD MEDALIST IN CITY GOLF MEET

Lefty Grove Chalks Up Twenty-Fifth Win Of Year for Mackmen

First Big Leaguer to Reach Mark for Season—Chuck Klein Smacks Thirty-Eighth Homer of Year as Phillies Down Brooklyn Dodgers

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Robert Moses Grove was not out at his very best today, but he was good enough to account for the winners, allowing his twenty-fifth victory of the season in the present season in the American League as Philadelphia defeated the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 6, in the final game of the season at Comiskey Park.

The Sox clipped Grove for twelve hits, including three doubles, but only in the fifth inning were they able to do any real damage. The Athletics picked up Phil Galloway, Bill Chamberlain, Red Faber and Biggs for ten hits, clustering them in the first four innings, during which they scored eight of their nine runs.

The defeat was number 100 for the Sox, a new high mark for the club. R. H. E. Philadelphia 9, Chicago 6. Batteries—Grove and Cochran; Galloway, Chamberlain, Faber, Biggs and Berry.

Jolly Shines
DETROIT, Sept. 19.—Smead Jolley, whose profession is right fielding, doctored the catfish, mack, milt and chest protector for the Boston Red Sox today and figured prominently in a 5-to-4 victory over the Tigers in the series closed here today. Jolley hit a home run with two men on base in the second inning.

The victory was the Sox's sixth out of twenty-two games with the Tigers this season. R. H. E. Boston 5, Detroit 4. Batteries—Kline, Weiland and Jolley; Bridges, Wyatt, Hogsett and Hayworth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Boston Braves knocked the Giants back into a tie with the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League by winning today's series opener, 6 to 3.

The Braves sewed it up in the fifth when they jumped on Walter Hoyt for four runs, including a four-bagger by Randy Moore with two on base. Ed Brandt pitched steadily for the winners, allowing nine hits but keeping them well distributed. Shanty Hogan hit a homer for the Giants.

Batteries—Brandt and Spohrer; Brooklyn, 9 to 6. Batteries—Hogan, Schumppel and Hogan.

KLEIN HITS HARD
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—The Phillies knocked young Van Mungo from the hill in the first two innings today to defeat Brooklyn, 5 to 3, and pull within a half game of third place in the National League, now held by the Dodgers.

Chuck Klein, who made three of the Phil's eight hits, cracked his bat in the first inning and in the second Les Mallon bounced one over the wall, with Todd on base, to climax a three-run rally and send Mungo to the clubhouse.

Joe Shaute relieved Mungo and pitched great ball the rest of the way, yielding only three hits. Lefty O'Doul gave the Dodgers two runs in the first inning when his twenty-first home run found Stripp on the bases.

MAT CARDS TO BE HELD ON FRIDAYS

Pacific Stadium Changes Night for Weekly Show—Semi Arranged

Promoter "Winnipeg" Chilton, of the Pacific Stadium, announced yesterday that in future his weekly wrestling cards would be presented on Friday evenings instead of Saturdays.

The programmes will continue to start at 8:45 o'clock and the local escorts will be admitted free. The five eight-minute-round semi-wind-up event for this week's show will bring together "Wild Bill" Donovan, Portland, and Hardy Kruskamp, of Denver. The pair will enter the ring at about 10:30.

The line-up for the main event, over eight ten-minute-rounds, will be completed today.

Donovan has appeared here twice before and on other occasions put up good shows. He is fast and clever and an experienced hand at the grappling game. Kruskamp will be making his initial appearance in a local ring.

Promoter Chilton's move to change the date of his shows should meet with approval from ring followers, especially by hunters and fishermen who like to spend the week-ends out of town.

Oak Bay Youngster Heads Large Field In Annual Classic

Seventeen-Year-Old Shotmaker Turns In Fine Card of 81, Despite Heavy Wind, at Oak Bay Links to Lead by Three Strokes—Mrs. Sayward-Wilson Second, Mrs. Jackson Third

CONQUERING A strong wind and tricky course, Marjorie Todd, seventeen-year-old youngster of the Victoria Golf Club, served notice that she is out to regain the crown, which once adorned her brow, yesterday at the Oak Bay links when she captured the qualifying test in the women's City championship by turning in a fine card of 81 for the eighteen-hole distance. The young shotmaker was in great form and led of the Victoria Golf Club, who captured the medal honors in the women's City championship yesterday at the Oak Bay links by turning in a card of 81 to lead a field of fifty-six starters by three strokes. Miss Todd held the crown in 1930, at the age of fifteen, and was runner-up in 1929.

With a strong wind and rain, the part of the field that teed off in the morning found the green hard and as a result the forenoon cards were much higher than expected. The majority of the favorites played in clear weather in the afternoon and, although the wind still swept across the fairways, scoring was better. The rain ceased about noon but the competitors found the greens tricky.

Scores of 101 or better gained places in the championship flight. The medalist played well from the first tee to the last and made herself a favorite for the title she won at the age of fifteen at the Uplands course from Mrs. Jackson in 1930, 2 and 1. In 1929 Miss Todd was runner-up to Mrs. Philbrick, losing out on the seventeenth green after a thrilling struggle, 2 and 1. After reaching the turn in 42, eight over women's par, the Oak Bay youngster settled down to real championship golf and sailed over the incoming distance in 39, one over perfect figures. She played all her shots well and will be a feared opponent when match play gets under way today. Miss Todd will face Mrs. Hew Paterson, a clubmate in the opening round and a close match is expected.

AL BROWN RETAINS WORLD'S BANTAM CROWN

Panama Boy Stows Emil Pladner Away In Opening Round

Dusky Canal Zone Champion Floors Frenchman in Just Over Two Minutes in Championship Mix—Lefty Gwynne Wins First Bout as Pro

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Panama Al Brown, world's bantamweight champion, retained his title in convincing style tonight. With just two real right-hand smashes he ended the championship aspirations of Emil (Spider) Pladner, Paris, and ended their scheduled fifteen-round encounter in exactly 2 minutes 21 seconds.

The Spider was not strong enough to hold the elongated negro from the Canal zone. They sparred cautiously for a moment and suddenly Brown shot a right to Pladner's jaw. Pladner went to the canvas instantly. He arose and clinched as the referee counted six. Brown pushed him away, stabbed him with a long left.

Emil's head bobbed back and Brown's right glove landed again with terrific force on the Frenchman's jaw. The stocky Pladner smashed to the canvas. This time, there was no question of the result. The referee tolled the count over the French champion.

U.S. GOLFERS PRAISE WIN OF CANADIAN

Herbert Ramsay and Bobby Jones Laud Play of Ross Somerville

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—American amateur golf today accepted the new holder of its championship trophy, Ross "Sandy" Somerville, Canadian sportsman, with praise.

"Somerville's victory strikes a particularly happy chord in our international golf relations," said Herbert H. Ramsay, president of the United States Golf Association. "Johnny Goodman acquitted himself splendidly on behalf of our rising group of younger players, in the final, but he lost Saturday by a close margin to a golfer with real championship stuff."

"It was a great match, a fine victory for Somerville and a real tribute to Canadian golf. I can say happily that since the trophy has been left this country, it can be in no better hands."

Bobby Jones, who defeated Somerville in the first round of the Georgia's last championship match at Merion in 1930, praised the Canadian as one of the finest match players he has ever met.

"But for a lucky putt I got to turn things my way at Merion, Somerville might have beaten me there," said Jones. "He has all the shots and he knows how to play them."

STEADY PERFORMER

Goodman's spectacular bid for the title unquestionably was checked by the steady performer in the thirty-sixth national tournament, held on the picturesque Five Farms course of the Baltimore Country Club. Somerville shot a record-breaking 68 in the third round to check Bill Blaney, New Boston star, and he shot par, golf for the last eight holes to overtake and beat Goodman, 2 and 1, in the final match.

Somerville's greater length off the tee, superior iron play and experience had much to do with Goodman's defeat. Over the tough last nine at Five Farms, Johnny simply did not pack the punch to keep pace with Somerville, and finally lost control.

Nevertheless, Goodman, by reaching the final, topped off the best record of any American amateur for 1932. The Nebraska native, who left off the Walker Cup team, to the subsequent chagrin of golf's official family, but he was the best amateur in the National Open. He outlasted all home-bred rivals in the amateur.

World Series Who's Who

By CENTRAL PRESS

TONY LAZZERI

Anthony Michael Lazzeri, New York Yankee's second baseman, is a grizzled world series veteran, at twenty-eight. In fact, he was near to being an ex-major league this year.

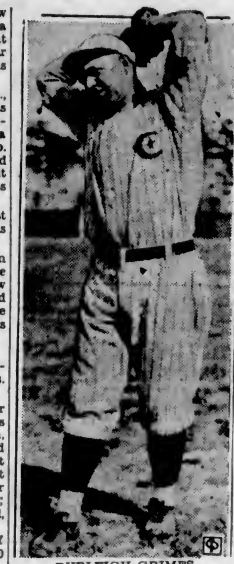

Tony, born in San Francisco, Cal., nineteen days before the Christmas of 1904, broke into professional baseball with Salt Lake City, after a sandlot career in San Francisco. After playing with Peoria, Ill., and Lincoln, Neb., he returned to Salt Lake City to be sold to the Yankees in 1926.

That year he broke into his first world series against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Tony's hitting fell off so badly in 1930 and 1931 that the Sportsman was on the trading block. When material the Yankees had imported failed, Lazzeri was put back on the job and has been one of the season's stars.

Burleigh A. Grimes is the best-known native of Clear Lake, Wis. He was born there August 13, 1883. He was on the trading block. When material the Yankees had imported failed, Lazzeri was put back on the job and has been one of the season's stars.

He pitched in the world series of 1920 for Brooklyn and in the 1930 and 1931 classics for St. Louis.

$1,800 BALANCE
The financial statement showed a balance of more than $1,800, of which amount the treasurer was instructed to send a cheque for $600 to the British Columbia Union for distribution between the Vancouver and Victoria Unions to reimburse them for loss of gates and expenses in connection with the practice games of the Canadian team which toured Japan last winter.

The secretary was instructed to write to England calling for the proposed trip of the Old Country side here this winter, due to economic conditions, Eastern unions having advised they would be unable to make any guarantee.

Ships Watching For Missing Men

PORT MENIER, Anticosti Island, Sept. 19 (CP).—Passing steamships today were watching for two men who have been adrift off the northwest coast of the island in a small rowboat since Saturday.

The small craft, carrying Albert Dignard and his son, went adrift when the anchor rope gave way during a storm southeast gale. They were carried out to sea and have not been seen since.

Gar Wood's Speedboat Clocked in Record Time in Trial

ALGOMAC, Mich., Sept. 19.—Gar Wood brought his Miss America X out again this morning for a trial against the world's speed record and in what was described as "a warm-up" dash was timed at 126.09 miles an hour. The record is 119.75 miles an hour, established on Loch Lomond, Scotland, July 18, by Kaye Don in Miss England III.

After the boat reached the well it was discovered a nut in one of the gear boxes had broken. This, it was announced, would delay the official run for several hours.

Darkness Halts Pro Golf With Match All Even

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP).—Darkness halted the $1,000 state golf match in which Willie Lamb and Andy Kay, Toronto, opposed Leo Diegel and Johnny Farrell, United States area, at the Rivermead Club today. Starting late in the afternoon, the match was finished all square when it was impossible to continue because of darkness. It will be next year before the winners will be known. The match will be played out the day before the Canadian Open championship in 1933.

TO MAKE PEACE IF SAFEGUARDED

Both Paraguay and Bolivia willing to Cease Hostilities in Chaco Jungles

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 19 (AP).—Paraguay advised the American neutrals tonight that she was willing to cease hostilities in the Chaco jungles, but must insist upon proper security before negotiating any agreement.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 19 (AP).—An army statement today said Bolivia's conditional acceptance of the American neutrals' commission request for a truce in the Gran Chaco fighting "was not a sign of weakness but a consequence of Bolivia's pacifist spirit to settle the conflict by lawful means."

The Government yesterday answered the note from the commission in Washington, D.C., by agreeing to end the conflict over the disputed Chaco region if Paraguay agreed beforehand to do likewise.

GOES TO LAW TO PROVE HIS CLAIM

ASHEVILLE, N.C., Sept. 19 (CP).—John H. Darnett has gone to law to prove a man's straw hat is nobody's business but his own. He said that just because he appeared in a straw hat after the close of the traditional season for such headgear, several loiterers and others called it "goat feed," knocked it off his head and broke it. He asks 5 cents for the hat and $1.25 damages.

Brazilian Rebels Are Put to Rout

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Sept. 19 (AP).—The Government announced tonight Federal troops, closing in toward Copacabana, had repelled a counter-attack and routed Sao Paulo rebels south of Amparo after a seven-hour battle.

Rebel losses were reported to be heavy. Superiority of Federal artillery was said to have been a deciding factor in the engagement.

CASTLEBAR STORE ROBBED

NELSON, Sept. 19 (CP).—Safe breakers obtained $500 in cash when they blew open the safe in William Plotnikoff's store at Castlebar late last night.

Plotnikoff, an Independent Doukhobor, discovered the robbery when he opened the store this morning.

MAXIE MUST FACE COURT PROCEEDINGS

German Heavy to Appear On Contempt Charge Over Carnera Suit

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxer, must show cause tomorrow why he should not be fined or jailed or both for contempt of court in failing to appear at an examination before trial of a $100,000 breach of contract suit brought against him by Primo Carnera, another heavyweight.

Supreme Court Justice Irwin Untermyer issued the show cause order today on motion of counsel for Carnera, who asserted Schmeling was in contempt for failing to appear for examination on June 27 and August 4 last. Carnera also asked that Schmeling's answer to the suit be stricken out and judgment in the full amount be ordered.

Carnera sued on the allegations that Schmeling failed to box with him under an agreement made last Summer. In his answer Schmeling asserted the boxing commission relieved him of any obligation to box Carnera because of an injured thumb.

Kerry Patch Wins $108,000 Race at Thirty to One Odds

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP).—Kerry Patch, despised outsider from Lee Rosenberg's stable, turned in one of the biggest upsets in recent turf history when he galloped home in front of the country's best two-year-olds to win the Futurity at Belmont Park, Saturday.

The longest of the long shots, Kerry Patch was considered to have no better than a 30-to-1 chance to lead the eight other colts and two fillies over the short seven-furlong run over the Widener straightaway. Yet when the dust had cleared the grandson of Trojan, which won the rich event at Saratoga in 1914, was three-quarters of a length in front of W. R. Coe's Ladyman, the choice at 4-to-5, with Mrs. Payne Whitney's Dynastic third.

The colt's owner, who has been racing for ten years with very little success, received $88,000. The race grossed $108,450.

What Today Means
"VIRGO"
If September 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:20 to 10 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7:40 p.m. to 9:10 p.m. The danger periods are from 10:20 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. and from 8:15 p.m. to 8:50 p.m.
The stars foretell for September 20 influences that will stimulate and promote energetic activity. There will be sensed an ever-present desire to get things done, and done quickly. Decisions can be made safely and affairs, already too long delayed, can definitely be closed. Heart doubts can also be set at rest.
Children born on this September 20 will be serious problems to their parents in their early years, as they will be both willful and wayward. In their later teens, however, something will happen which will open their eyes to the realities of life, and they will undergo a complete metamorphosis, and turn out well. You, if born on September 20, are, although there is no reason for being so, pessimistic and lugubrious. You live in the shade, and light shy of the sun. You seem to revel in misery and self-pity. If Nature had dealt with you in a stingy spirit, your attitude could be at least understood, although it could never be justified. Nature, however, has been generous, as you are endowed with an active mind, a good brain, and ability far above the average. When these good qualities could stand you in good stead, when opportunities are available which your inherent gifts could capitalize with advantage, you throw up the sponge and say to yourself, "What's the use? The whole thing will be a washout."
Your disposition is not one that makes for congeniality, and your circle of friends is limited. You prefer solitude or seek the companionship of others who feel that they have a grudge against life. You are an omnivorous reader, but take little pleasure in romance or a happy ending. You seek tragedy. Your horoscope denotes much less success than that to which you are entitled, although you will find a certain degree of happiness in being unhappy.

RELIEF PLANS CONFIRMED

Union Officials Advised New Scale of Assistance Is Definite

Definite, if unofficial, assurance was given the Union of British Columbia Municipalities yesterday that the scale of reduced relief assistance proposed by a committee of the union on Saturday would be carried into effect at the request of the British Columbia treasury. A committee of the union met Hon. W. A. McKenzie, chairman of the unemployment committee of the Cabinet, during the day; Mayor David Leeming, Victoria, and Reeve William

Crouch, Saanich, acting for the union. The civic officials, on behalf of the union, asked for definite word of the Government's intentions in respect to future relief plans, and were advised that the money available to the province now relies on the sums used for relief in Burnaby, taking care of the Dominion, provincial and municipal costs involved, either on direct contribution or on loan.

Had Burnaby confined its efforts to authorized and necessary relief expenditures solely, the present situation would not have arisen, it was stated. For some time past the province has been advancing all of the sums used for relief in Burnaby, taking care of the Dominion, provincial and municipal costs involved, either on direct contribution or on loan.

Pending final and formal advice, the delegates were told that $15 a month for a married couple within municipalities, and $25 for each dependent child will be the new rates, subject to Cabinet action in the matter.

BURNABY AFFAIRS
Taking up the question of relief in Burnaby, the civic officials produced a telegram from Reeve W. A. Pritchard which stated that, owing to the fact that the city had been forced to close down on relief assistance under the Federal Relief Act of 1931, and that a cheque for $16,000 had been forwarded by the treasury to Burnaby yesterday, half of which was for work, and half for direct relief.

The British Columbia Government is at present bearing all of the cost of Burnaby relief, treasury officials stated, paying the Dominion and municipal share as well as that of the municipality itself. Burnaby's allocation under the 1930 act was $258,000. Under the 1931 act the sum of $700,000 was requested, and $380,000 of this authorized by the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

SITUATION TO MEET
Reeve Pritchard has notified the Government that no more money is available to the city for expenditures on relief purposes, and that there are some 2,000 unemployed on its rolls at present. Civic delegates pointed out that the cheque for $16,000 would not be sufficient to retire grocery credits exceeding $80,000, even if all of it could be spent for that purpose, which is not the case.

The whole situation in Burnaby has been under provincial review for some time past, and it is likely

LIBRARY COST IS REPORTED

Mayor Given Survey of Financial Situation and Services Rendered

While circulation of books at the Victoria Public Library has increased 54.5 per cent over the past decade, cost of administration has increased only 15.7 per cent, it was revealed in an economic survey report submitted to Mayor David Leeming yesterday by the Library Board through the council's representative, Alderman William T. Straith.

The report showed that in 1922 the net cost of the library to the city was $22,104 as compared with $25,566 in 1930, a gain of 15.7 per cent.

Registrations in 1932 totaled 19,952, whereas in 1922 the card holders numbered 26,118, an increase of 30.9 per cent. The circulation of books has risen from 298,153 in 1922 to 460,734 in 1932, or an increase of 54.5 per cent. The total number of books in the library is 66,158, as against 47,500 in 1922.

COMPARISON MADE
The report was prepared to give the council a clear picture of the advancement that has taken place at the library in the number of users and the number of books circulating compared with the increased cost of administration. The increase in the cost is only half of the increase in the circulation and registration. It was pointed out, and in addition to this an average of 2,100 new books has been added to the shelves each year.

This year, which for the library ends during the early part of 1933, shows a further increase in circulation and registrations, with hardly any change in the administrative cost. In August of this year 35,150 books were circulated compared with 32,437 for the same month last year.

EXPECTS GOOD FROM PUBLICITY WORK IN PACIFIC STATES
Capt. F. M. O'Connor, the contact man of the Victoria Island and Pacific States Publicity Bureau at Grants Pass during the Summer, has returned to the city after concluding his season's work in representing the bureau at Portland during the convention of the American Legion there. He is very optimistic with regard to the future of travel from the Pacific States to Victoria and the Island. The visit of Herbert Anson and George I. Warren, president and commissioner of the bureau, respectively, did a great deal for the publicity end, he thinks.

TO RAISE FUNDS TO AID JUBILEE

Hospital Organizations Carry Through Important Enterprise in Behalf of Institution

A novel method of raising funds to help the Jubilee Hospital was launched last Spring by the Women's Auxiliary, assisted by the Junior W.A. and the Daughters of the Empire, and during the intervening months everyone has been busy selling tickets for the tombola and sale to be held on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Approximately 100 prizes of different values are available, including a handsome silver candelabra, silver handkerchiefs, French china tea set in yellow with silver decoration, and other good prizes of china and cut glass, silver plate and linens. There are some excellent water-colors and numerous scrip prizes, cigars, cases of ginger ale and numerous other gifts—all generously donated in order that the entire proceeds might be given to the hospital funds.

The gifts will be on display in the Nurses' Home, Richmond Road, on the day of the drawing, when the Women's Auxiliary will hold a silver tea.

Those having books of tickets not yet called for are asked to telephone Miss F. Dillabough, E 2879, or leave at Little & Taylor's, Douglas Street, before midday on Wednesday.

Robert R. Webb will be in charge of the drawing, which will be done by a daughter of a W.A. member. Mrs. Phil Taylor will be in charge of the tea; Mrs. F. Dillabough in charge of tickets, and Mrs. V. Roberts in charge of the receipt of customs.

Her husband left her Two Children and $400 a Week!

WHEN John T. — was alive and healthy, both he and his wife were proud of the fact that they owned $5,000 of Life Insurance.

Five thousand dollars looked like a lot of money—about as much as John could earn in two years' time. Then suddenly Mrs. T. — was left alone in the world—alone, except for their two children and the Life Insurance.

Earnings stopped but bills had to be paid. In a few months' time, the insurance money had shrunk to $4,000. At this time, Mrs. T. — did some figuring. Safely invested, $4,000 would yield $200 a year—less than $4.00 a week. Not enough to pay the rent, let alone buy food and clothes for three!

And so another widow sought menial work through the classified ads. of the newspapers—and two more children were deprived of a mother's care.

Not a very pleasant story—but a true one. That's why we suggest that you measure your Life Insurance by the income it will produce—the income that you will need for your own old age—the income that will help take your place, if necessary.

Old Man Coyote Simply Grins

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who can at disappointment grin
Some day success will surely win.
—Old Mother Nature.

Fretful Quilly, young son of Prickly Porky the Porcupine, had boasted. Yes, sir, he had boasted. It is foolish to boast. I know of nothing more foolish. Fretful Quilly found it out at once.

"Then why did you run from us?" asked Inky the little Skunk, speaking for himself and for Gruntly the little Possum.

"Well," he admitted fretfully, "I was startled. I hadn't seen you and I didn't know who you were and out there I had no place to hide my head. So I ran to the nearest place to hide my head and then I wasn't afraid."

Inky looked puzzled. He hesitated a moment and then he asked a question. "Did you think that you couldn't be seen if you hid your head?" he asked.

"Don't be silly," replied Quilly scornfully. "Of course, I didn't. But my head, as you can see for yourself, isn't as well protected as the rest of me. With my head out of harm's way I am safe, for no one with any sense at all is going to come within reach of my tail."

"You fight with your tail?" Gruntly ventured to ask.

"You might call it that," replied Quilly. "I don't call it that. I call it just defending myself."

"That's a funny-looking tail. Can you hit hard with it?" asked Inky. "I don't have to hit hard with it," replied Quilly in his fretful way. "If I hit any one at all it usually is enough. No one ever bothers me more than once. A few of these little spears of mine are enough to make them leave me alone for the rest of my life. If anybody comes around me looking for trouble I just show him my little spears and that is enough. What do you fellows do?"

"Me? Ah run. If there is no place to run to Ah climb. If there is no place to climb Ah just don't do anything," replied Gruntly with a grin.

"Don't be silly," replied Quilly scornfully.

Quilly opened his dull eyes very wide. "But doing nothing won't do you any good," he protested.

Gruntly grinned. "Ah reckon you may be right," said he, "but here Ah be. Nobody done got me yet."

"Do you run and climb too?" asked Quilly, turning to Inky.

"I don't have to," replied Inky boastfully. "I'm not afraid of anybody. That is, hardly anybody."

He corrected himself as he saw Gruntly grin and remembered Hooty the Owl. "And I don't hide my head," he added. "I don't have to. Folks just look at me and walk around. Here comes some one now. I'll show you."

Sure enough, there was Old Man Coyote, coming their way. Gruntly at once climbed the nearest tree. Quilly turned back to that old log and got his head under it and the little spears all standing on end. A very prickly looking person he was. Inky put up his warning signal, which, as you know, is his tail, faced Old Man Coyote and

VETERANS' CLUB PLANS MONTE CARLO NIGHT

The ways and means committee of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion announced last night that they were arranging to hold a Monte Carlo party on Friday, October 7.

This entertainment will be staged as a special request from the membership, which expressed so much appreciation of it last year.

The committee responsible for its success is under the chairmanship of Percy C. Payne.

GIVE THE YOUNG FELLOW TIME

"Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the youthful agricultural college graduate to the old farmer. "Why, I'd be astonished if you got even ten pounds of apples from that tree."

"So would I," replied the farmer. "It's a pear tree."

Relieved his SORE FEET

"Last Spring my feet were so sore I could hardly walk," writes Mr. A. C. Child, Montreal. "I rubbed Minard's Liniment on, night and morning, and rubbed the pain out. I have since used Minard's Liniment with good results. Minard's Liniment is wonderful for growing hair, itching skin, for Cuts, Coughs, Stomach Cramps, Aches, Headache, Wounds, Burns, Bruises.
